Boys and Girls State Educational Opportunities

American Legion Boys State

American Legion Auxiliary Girls State

Summer Leadership Program Citizens can earn college liberal arts credits, transferable to regionally accredited colleges. Transferability based upon student’s chosen major and each school’s local policy.

Adams State University, a regionally accredited institution in Alamosa, Colorado, offers these college credits.

HGP 179 - CITIZENSHIP - 3 CREDITS
Tuition costs: $180.00
This course covers the development of the American system of local and state governments and how they work. Students provided opportunities to interact with senior elected leaders from state and federal branches of government. At the end of their experience, students create a presentation for their hometown sponsor and email a copy of their APA formatted paper to their ASU instructor.

ID 179 - COLLEGE OPTIONS - 1 CREDIT
Tuition costs: $60.00
This course takes the student through the maze of options for college financing and admissions. It covers critical application fundamentals, as well as tips to succeed through the entire process. Students will utilize the interact dvd: “TOTAL COLLEGE SUCCESS” as a course resource. Upon review of the dvd, students will demonstrate through work product how to apply, what they learned to maximize their college and financial opportunities. This dvd is provided at no charge for students registering for three (3) or more credits.

Go to www.leadershipcredit.org and read more, plus to register! Over 6,000 high school students have earned credits through our programs here at RTG & Associates.

Junior Counselor performance also recognized with college credits with academic requirements fulfilled!

College Credits for Cadets

Educational Opportunities For ALL Cadets
American History Educational Opportunities For ALL Students

HIST 179 – American History and its Veterans, 1890 through Today - 3 credits

Students examine the role and impact Veterans contributed to and had on American History. Course content is contextual to the era. It emphasizes the role former members of the military played both in war and peace. How these veterans influenced outcomes is woven either by the student’s own research and/or with facts from the Veteran’s historical recognition of events. Their consequential impact on the America of yesterday and today becomes the basis for each student’s thesis.

The Opportunity:

College history credit earned in high school! 99.7% of enrolled high school students have successfully transferred Adams State University credits to their college of choice upon graduation, while in our programs. Transfer credit based on chosen major, academic requirements and local institutional policies. This course normally transfers as a Liberal Arts/Social Science/History course.

Adams State University, a regionally accredited, four-year state/public supported liberal arts institution, in Alamosa, Colorado, offers three (3) semester hours of credit. Tuition is $60 per credit, with no additional fees.

Academic Requirements:

Upon completing your own standard year-long high school course in American History, and while on Summer Vacation break... even later, registrants produce individually researched academic product based upon the impact of our Nation’s history on the lives of America’s Veterans and their families.

Learn more about these credits here: www.leadershipcredit.info/american-history/. Then, click on the HIST 179 course link on the left side of the web page. Read the syllabus and student instructions provided, for course requirements. Focus on pages 5, 6, 7 in the syllabus. Register now!

Questions, seek out your local high school history instructor with this flyer, and go online, or call: Bob Greene: 1.303.840.3063.
Degree Opportunities for Instructors

COLLEGE CREDITS and INSTRUCTOR DEGREE OPPORTUNITIES for JROTC INSTRUCTORS

JROTC Instructors earn college academic credit for completing initial and distance-learning training required by their service's JROTC Headquarters. Tailored degree options - Associate's, Bachelor's and Master's degree plans are available as shown on our website: www.leadershipcredit.net. Use your Military Service training to receive credit from FORT HAYS STATE UNIVERSITY; a public funded university in the State of Kansas. All degree options available with your JROTC training incorporated into each academic program.

Associates in General Studies: in Educational Management or Teaching and Learning.

Bachelors in General Studies with one the following concentrations: Teaching and Learning, Educational Management, Health Promotion, Social Studies, General Science, Business, and Historical Studies.

Masters Degrees: Masters of Liberal Studies with a concentration in Teaching and Learning, OR a Masters of Science in Education specifically tailored for JROTC Instructors.

FHSU has also instituted a “Certificate Program” for new instructors, focusing on pedagogy credits for new JROTC instructors, at both the undergraduate and graduate levels with its degrees.

Please note: spouses, family members, and school colleagues are also eligible for these opportunities with your recommendation and support! Why not share this opportunity. RTG has online distance-learning access for those not associated with the military, including text books!

Log on to our website and call one of our counselors to learn how you can earn academic credit towards an undergraduate or graduate degree for your work as a JROTC instructor. (RTG services are provided at absolutely no charge to the participant.)
